

Technology Research Preparation

Pre-Work 0: Read the Subject Outline

Barry Jay

Autumn 2016

1 Welcome to TRP

Hi everyone. Welcome to Technology Research Preparation (TRP, 32144) at UTS. We are starting a new system this semester, with eleven teaching weeks plus two weeks of pre-work. This document describes the first of three pieces of work for you to do before classes begin. Note that many of you will have your first tutorial before the first lecture, so it is very important that you do the pre-work now. This document, and the other piece of pre-work can be found on UTS online in the pre-work folder.

The Subject Outline

Your first task is to read and understand the subject outline. It tells what is expected of you and how we are going to work together. Previously, we would have done this during class, but there is no need for us to synchronise for this. Do not think, however, that this means the subject outline is not important. Actually, it is even more important than ever.